Graduates Play Large Part In Red And White Revue

Tickets On Sale

First Performance to be Given in Moyse Hall Next Wednesday

WAUD STARRED

Members of Former Revues to Participate in Forthcoming Event

FEATURING all the old Revue stars of past years, in addition to undergraduate talent, the Red & White Revue is nearing completion with the first full rehearsal now but two days off. There is scarcely a week left before the show is put on for the first time in Moyse Hall Wednesday night, March 11th. Four more performances will be presented; Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, and Saturday afternoon. Tickets are now on sale at the Box Office in the Union between the hours of nine and six.

For the first time in the fourteen years that the show has been produced, graduates will take a prominent part. Among them will be Chick Parrish, Pat Beatts, Tiny Webb, Lorraine Tasker and Walter Markham. In addition there will be a Graduates' chorus, made up of Jean Birnie, Pat Dowd, Mildred Brown, Doris Gales, Dorothy Harvey, Rita Legault, Betty Galbraith, Ivy Turner and Betty Warden.

Two Other Choruses

Two other choruses will also be featured, dancing to the music composed by Howard Simpson, Walter Molson, Iris Armstrong and Mortimer Weinfield. Among the soloists are Mariota Spielman, Jean Birnie, Lolo Cooke, Elizabeth MacLeod, Warren Conway and Elizabeth Conyers.

This year's Revue departs from the custom of the past three years in being in revue, rather than musical comedy, style. Two main skits, "Bacchus' Roadhouse" and "Laura Secord," and several smaller ones, will be featured. A partial cast is as follows:

Bacchus' Roadhouse

Jupiter ..... Jack Waud
Juno ..... Bernice Ashkanase
Bacchus ..... Morton Cohen
Minerva ..... Lilias Savage
Two wayward shepherdesses
Charlotte Bowman, Loys Wright

Laura Secord

Phoebe ..... How Now, Brown Cow
Laura Secord ..... Bernice Ashkanase
General Wolfe ..... Jack Waud
Major St. John New Brunswick ..... Bob Dunn
Colonel James McGill ..... Ted Piper
Chief Whis Kee Kee ..... Bill Carter
Princess Theatre ..... Charlotte Bowman
Eric the Red ..... Huge Savage
Marquis de Montreal ..... Jean Dupuis

S. P. M. Members Convene To Plan "Hour Of Peace"

High Schools, Colleges, and Universities Within 400-Mile Radius Send Representatives

Ken Woodsworth, Prominent Varsity Pacifist, Will Attend Saturday Conference

STUDENTS from high-schools, colleges and universities within a radius of four hundred miles of Montreal, will gather at Strathcona Hall this Saturday at 2.30 p.m. This Regional Conference has been called by the National Committee of the Peace Movement, in order to unite students from educational institutions throughout Canada, in an Hour of Peace. This Conference will also deal with the future plans for Peace activities throughout the eastern section of the Dominion.

In addition to members of the local Peace Movement there will be representatives from Macdonald College, University of Toronto, Queen's, St. Thomas College, (New Brunswick), and possibly Bishop's. The Conference is not being limited to university students, and members of six of the local high schools will attend. An invitation has been extended to Mr. Inch, who is the National Secretary of the League of Nations Society of Canada, to attend.

Student Leader Attends

One of the leading figures at Saturday's Conference will be Ken Woodsworth from the University of Toronto. Ken Woodsworth is considered to be one of the most prominent students in Canada. A delegate, along with Mendel Laxer, to the World Peace Congress held at Brussels a year ago, Ken Woodsworth has since played a leading role in Canadian Student Peace activities. He was one of those who organized the Ontario Student Peace Movement last year, and he also figured prominently at the National Conference recently held in Toronto.

In addition to activities on a national scale, preparations are under way for the local Peace Hour at McGill. In accordance with a decision reached at a general meeting of prominent students in each of the McGill faculties, a special Council has been formed. The members are: Eileen Crutchlow, Ingrid Taft, Mel Davidson, Jack Edwards, Juanita de Shield, Mendel Laxer, Charles Lapitsky, Gertrude Salomons, and Helen McMaster.

Revue Cabaret To Take Place After Final Performance

THE last big social function of the year, the Revue Cabaret will take place on Saturday night March 14 following the last performance of the Red and White Revue. This year the dance will be held in the Windsor Hotel, where the ballroom and the Rose Room have been obtained. As has been customary, the price has been kept as low as possible and the tickets sell for $4.50 per couple.

As in other years all the principals of the Red and White Revue cast will be there as well as a great many of those who have taken part in the different departments of the Revue organization. The orchestra which will be one of the more prominent local orchestras will play different selections from the Revue music and a number of scenes and dances from the Revue will be presented.

This year there will be plenty of room for everyone—ample room to dance in comfort and lots of time to dance. Dancing will begin at ten-thirty and will continue until the early morning hours. The committee will announce the names of the patrons and of the orchestra in a few days. Tickets may be obtained from Bill Gentleman, Harry Grimsdale, Bert Yates and the Revue box office.

Literature Society Meets Next Week

John Masefield's life, poetry, novels and plays will be discussed at next Thursday's meeting of the Literature Society. The speakers, and their different divisions of the subject, are Suzanne Kohl, speaking on the poet's life; Margaret Lockhart, on several of Masefield's longer poems; Judith Kennedy, on his children's novels; and Tony Chapman on his plays.

Although best known for his sea-poems, Masefield in his youth did not feel the conventional longing to go to sea, but he was a sailor because he had to earn his living in some way. As he grew accustomed to the sea he began to realize that "a seaman has a profound sense of the mystery of the sea. . . the element which carries, fights and destroys him."

ing a paper on the subject, after which the meeting will be thrown open for further discussion.

The speaker intends to trace the subject from the Middle Ages to the present day, showing how, during Mediaeval times the Jew and Arab were the only ones to keep knowledge and science alive, and that it was they who later brought this knowledge to an ignorant Europe. He will deal ketchily with the Jew in Science at the present day.

Industrial Use Of Explosives Stressed

Mr. Grubb Speaks on History and Manufacture of Explosives

PRODUCTION DESCRIBED

THAT our modern mechanical civilization has been built up largely through the use of explosives was the gist of a talk given by Mr. Grubb of the C.I.L. before the McGill Student Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers in the lecture room of the Chemistry Building yesterday afternoon. Mr. Grubb's subject was "The History, Manufacture, and Uses of Explosives." Each aspect of the subject was dealt with separately and illustrated by motion pictures.

Starting with the history of explosives Mr. Grubb pointed out that the first explosive to be used was ordinary black blasing powder. This was probably introduced into Europe by Roger Bacon. Progress was very slow and it wasn't till 1846 that any advances were made when the Italian Sobrero invented nitroglycerine. The modern large scale use of explosives in industry dates from 1870 when Alfred Nobel incorporated this into a practical form dynamite. Since that date improvements have been made and today one can obtain many grades of explosives suitable for all types of work including farming, mining, underwater blasting and others.

In dealing with the manufacture of

Duff's Tally Beats Leafs In Close Tilt

Scores in First and Last Period — Pidcock Nets One—Martel Scores For Verdun

TEAMS WILL FIGHT TO FINISH NEXT MONDAY

Rough Encounter Restores McGill's Chances For Play-off Finals

By E. C. C.

McGILL held down its play-off berth last night when the Senior hockey team won a 3-2 decision against the Verdun Maple Leafs at the Forum, to bring the games to one-all in the lower bracket of the Q.A.H.A. semi-finals. Alec Duff's tally late in the last period finished off a hard-fought deadlock which saw both teams depleted by a heavy penalty toll, especially in the second period, when only five men besides the goalies were on the ice.

Last week's game, in which Verdun took the Redmen 4-3, was favoured with better hockey. Last night the teams added to their punch, but many shots went wild. The terrific tempo of the play, while it struck a lively pace, was not as sustained as in the previous encounter. The two teams will meet in their final of the best-of-three series next Monday night.

Red Forwards Strong

Coach Bell's two front lines menaced the Verdun bulwarks, Brunet and Arcand, pretty well throughout the game. The Duff - Morse - McConnell combine accounted for two of the McGill goals, and the Crutchfield - Pidcock - Crosby trio chalked up one in the second stanza of the game. Alec Duff poked in two, the first and the last, and Paul

PLAY-OFF PATTER

THE forward line that entered the foray first in last night's hockey game was the unit composed of Crosby, Crutchfield and Pidcock. Captain Meiklejohn and Wigle were of course planked solidly in front of Dave Tennant.

Jean Paul Elie went to the ice with gusto in the first stanza when Philbin handed him a Grade A bodycheck. However J. P. was back on his blades in a few seconds and ready to match poundage with anybody.

The Redmen drew first blood when Duff uncorked a back hand which sent the boot heel high into the mesh. Russ McConnell and Tommy Morse both had their fingers in the pie so were credited with assists.

Joe Desroches did a fine job of ragging the puck for the Leafs while Pennee was gracing the cooler for holding. However, both teams were forced to play a man short as Cliff MacKay was given a two-minute rest for tripping. It was a case of necessity though as Desroches was coasting in on Tennant unattended.

A larger crowd than turned out for the tussle last week showed that even if the City Fathers won't clean the streets the populace are still going to go to their hockey games. The rabid throng numbered about 7,500.

Just before the game started it was learned that Lou Marsh of the Toronto Star had passed away earlier in the day. Marsh was very well-known in Canadian sporting circles and at the time of his death was Sports Editor of the Toronto Star.

Pidcock had plenty of the old moxy when he boarded Pennee in the central area. But he took a two minute penalty for his efforts. Then entered the drama, with the broad 'a,' please. Immediately Crosby was sent to the penalty bench for tripping and before you could say apostapesis Meiklejohn was sent to the sidelines as well, along with Brown. Then Desroches was chased for having his stick where it wasn't supposed to be. Pidcock came

Election Platforms Issued By Candidates For Union Offices

Seven Candidates Nominated for the Three Offices — Other Platforms in Future Issues—Presidents of the Musical Association and M.W.S.A.A. Elected by Acclamation — Voting to Take Place on Tuesday, March 10th.

CANDIDATES for Campus Officers will be elected on Tuesday, March 10th. The Daily will run a series of platforms, with the purpose of aiding students in voting. The platforms of seven candidates for the offices of President, Vice-President, and Treasurer of the McGill Union appear below. Only men are eligible to vote for them. The other candidates' platforms will appear in later issues.

Crutchlow's Platform

May I state from the first that I do not wish anyone to misconstrue what I propose to say in connection with the Three Dollar increase in the Student Fee. I am taking no stand for or against the amendment in this platform; I am merely stating the facts—it cannot be an issue in this election because before the elected candidates come into office on July 1st, it will have been accepted or rejected.

However the policy which the Union House Committee will have to follow next year, depends in a large measure upon the outcome of this proposed amendment to the constitution of the Students' Society, to be brought before that Society on March 16th. It is not possible for me, as a candidate for the Presidency of the Union to outline any specific platform to follow until this matter is settled.

(Unless this amendment is passed and the Union House thus assured of increased revenue), it would be absurd to state that I am in favour of making certain much needed repairs to the Union and to advocate that the social program of the Union be augmented to any great extent. Rather, if the Union House does not receive an increased revenue, I am convinced, from a survey of the present financial condition of the Union, that a platform of rigid economy and a curtailing of all Union House activities, which do not yield a substantial revenue, will be necessary.

In the seven years which I have attended McGill University I have always been in close contact with student affairs and student government. Since accepting the nomination for be treated from different viewpoints of both the scientific and the moral angles. Individual points to be presented will be welcomed.

Arts Undergrads Hear Dean Martin At Banquet Tonight

TONIGHT at 6.30 the Arts Undergrads gather in the Ballroom of the Union for their annual banquet. The guest speaker will be Dean C. F. Martin of the Faculty of Medicine who is known for his genial humour. Principal Morgan will be present; also Deans Woodhead and O'Neill who will represent the Arts Faculty. Several Arts and Science professors have signified their intention of attending.

The occasion is to be celebrated by the Union serving a special meal at which beer will be served. In the past, the price of this Annual Banquet has been a dollar, but this year it is reduced to seventy-five cents to enable as many as possible to attend. Free liquid refreshment will be served and entertainment in the form of dances by Lolo Cooke and Elizabeth MacLeod will be provided.

Tickets may be obtained from the following members of the executive: Graham Gould, Parker Chesney, Bill Carter and Dave Fraser; also from class officers and Bill Gentleman.

Refractories To Be Subject Of Paper

Joint Meeting of Three Important Engineering Societies This Afternoon

This afternoon, at 5.00 P.M. a joint meeting of the Mining and Metallurgical Society, and the local Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, and the Mechanical Club will be held in the main lecture Theatre of the Chemistry Building. The speaker for the occasion, Mr. J. L. Spence, of the Canadian Refractories of Montreal, will present a paper on "The Application of Refractories and Insulation to Industry," illustrated with slides. Mr. Spence received his technical training at Queen's University and Carnegie Institute of Technology. He has a wide experience both in the manufacture of refractories and in their use, having worked in the Research Dept. on the development, and in the Operating Department on the manufacture of the various materials involved.

Next Saturday afternoon, March 7th the Mining and Metallurgical Society will visit the plant of the Allis-Chalmers, Limited, at Rockfield, near Lachine, with a view to inspecting the largest mine-hoist ever built. This huge hoist has been designed and erected for the International Nickel Co., Copperclif, Ont., and is to be shipped shortly. The visit will start at 2.30 p.m., and if sufficient numbers decide to turn out, a special bus will be hired for transportation.

Kohler Addressed Neurological Society

Spoke on "Psychological Approach to Neurological Problems"

In the final address of his Montreal visit, Professor Wolfgang Kohler, eminent German Psychologist, spoke before the Montreal Neurological Institute yesterday afternoon. The topic of his address was "A Psychological Approach To Neurological Problems."

The speaker stressed the advisability of psychologists having an intimate knowledge of Neurology, and also a knowledge of psychology by the Neurologists. By citing specific case records, the speaker showed how the problems of neurology and psychology overlapped, and consequently the methods did too.

Professor Kohler pointed out the necessary transition of psychology into the field of biology. His address also showed the great realm covered by psychology, a characteristic which impressed the chairman, Dr. Wilder Penfield, in the latter's recent visit to the Psychological Laboratories at Princetown, of which he made mention in his opening remarks.

Touring Team Of N. Y. U. To Oppose McGill In Debate

"Resolved that the security of Canada and the United States lies in the policy of North American isolation" is the topic of the debate to be held at the McGill Union on Monday, March 9th, in which N.Y.U. will uphold the affirmative. Phil Vineberg and Mel Davidson will represent McGill, and Bernard Halfond, Norman Nathan, Stanley Gewitz and Marvin J. Raskin will support New York University.

The debate will follow the American form, which consists in having four speeches and four rebuttals, instead of the Canadian, which confines itself to one speech and one rebuttal.

The American team is making a tour of Canadian universities, and will visit Ottawa University, Mount Allison of Sackville, N.B., and the University of New Brunswick.

This event will be the last one on the schedule before the Talbot Papineau Cup Contest.

Newmanites Discuss "Evolution" Tonight

The third in the series of Newman Club Discussion Groups will be held tonight at 8:00 o'clock in Congress Hall, on the corner of Dorchester and St. Alexander streets. The topic of discussion will be "Evolution." All members of the Club and friends are invited to attend.

The discussion is under the leadership of Elmer Shea, and the topic will

Big Bad Wolfe Denounces Revue Publicity In Interview

(Exclusive interview with General Big Bad Wolfe on the eve of the Battle of Abraham, March 5th, 1759, by Special Correspondent to the McGill Daily) (Delayed).

THE odds on the big fight of the century, the Red & White Revue of 1936, the Battle of the Behemoths stands at seven to three in favour of the British forces to win, and nine to one to place. Wise money is all on the troops under General Wolfe, the Captivating Commander, to take Marshal von Twiddlefoof Montcalm, the French Fricasse, in the fourth round of firing. Armament promoters of the Fiasco predict a sellout at the box-office, profits should run into the million-dollar gate.

Wolfe himself, whom some columnists have labelled the Brown Bomber, was calm and serene. The British came out of their winter training camp at the peak of their physical strength. Some onlookers fear that they may have overtrained and become stale, but the general concensus favours the English to annihilate the Fearful Frogs.

The first question we asked Herr Commandant Wolfe was, "Who do you think will win the fight tonight?"

With that quick gift for repartee for which he is noted, he replied, "Given a muddy track and a little rain we ought to place in the second and fifth, and win the Handicap."

"Are you afraid of the proposed sanctions of the Committee of Three that is meeting in Geneva today?"

Quick as a flash, Wolfe replied, "Well, I'll tell you . . . . If the Committee of the Sacred Cows does ban the export of home-made blinsis und kartofflen ve are zunk." Wolfe is an Irishman gone wrong.

When we first saw the Philandering Philbert, as he entered his tent, he was attired in a natty grey suit, blue shirt and yellow tie, but he later changed to full-dress and white tie for the fighting speech to the troops before going into the ring. General Wolfe has endeared himself to the rank and vile by the simplicity of his manner and dress. He always insists on eating the same food as do the common privates. When we saw him he was dining frugally upon a young squab, crepes suzette in hollandaise sauce and bourbon vintage 1703.

Wily Wolfe is also a very sympathetic man. He expressed the greatest sorrow that Montcalm, the Mildewed Marshal, must die tonight. We were amazed at this clairvoyance and asked, "Mais Monsieur, how eez eet that le Marechal must mort sein tomorrow?" We learned our French in New Orleans.

"Didn't you never read the history books?" he came back. "Everybody knows that Montcalm died on the Plains of Abraham. Come to think of it so do I. Muygawd."

This last tragic thought interrupted our interview. Wolfe immediately began dictating the releases to the press and composing his last words to his soldiers.

The last we heard of Wolfe, the Winsome, was the faint echo of soldiers rehearsing their lines, "They run, they run." "Who run?" asked Wolfe.

That's what we want to know, "Who run?"

The Necessity For More Library Space

THE REDPATH LIBRARY has for years been verging nearer and nearer a point of overcrowding and it is now evident that the time has come when some means must be found to alleviate the lack of accommodation for the overflow. Of course it is no easy matter to suddenly find lodging room for a constant influx of books, and we feel sure that the Library Committee is doing everything in its power to find some answer to the conundrum of space. Another thing that must be considered is the cost of building an annex — in these days even with Carnegie Trusts and philanthropic funds of all sorts it is often difficult to obtain the necessary resources. A method that might be given consideration is that of reserving funds out of the library allotment. This, we believe, has, like most financial aid at the university, been cut down, but such as it is, a small but definite amount might be placed aside with the object in view of building up towards a sum that would be of some practical use.

The reputation of our library is too important to jeopardize by either cutting off the purchase of books or on the other hand by overcrowding conditions that make it awkward for student and librarian alike. There should be a curtailment of the purchase of expensive rare editions until a remedy has been found for the existing condition.

Even in the Arts Building, the Carnegie Library is reaching a state of completeness that warrants ill for the future. This little but extremely valuable reference room should not be limited to a certain number of books but should be increased, within reason, into as large a separate library as possible.

We hope that some action will be taken in the near future to solve the riddle of crowded libraries. The problem is not so much a serious one, as it is annoying. The Redpath Library has for a long period of time served well and faithfully its purpose. That purpose should not be thwarted but carried out in parallel growth with that of the university.

Towards Understanding

THE increasing trend towards student freedom has lately tended to accentuate the gulf between students and professors. We still find the professors being interested in student affairs to the extent of coming to address an occasional student gathering, but there is the apparent lack of common ground, outside of the lecture room, upon which these two integral parts of a university meet. The faculty have their own club and the students have their own organizations, and with the exception of the students-professors golf match and chess tournament, there is no social contact between teachers and students.

There is mention in the annals of McGill of a former attempt at bringing together the students and the professors, with no measure of success. However, those were the days when a freshman was admitted into the university on the basis of a talk (in the fatherly manner) from the principal, in which he probably asked the applicant why he wished to attend the university, and a few other such questions, which obviated the necessity of a closer understanding in later years. Nowadays, when the number of students is far beyond the interviewing powers of any one person, and when the sophistication of the modern youth tends to make him frown at any such methods of establishing contact, there must be found another way in which we can meet our professors on a social basis, not as guest speakers, not as patrons or advisers, but as friends with certain interests in common.

It would not be amiss to consider the formation of some sort of an organization on the Campus, whose aim it should be to bring together both students and professors on an equal footing. No matter where the headquarters of the organization will be, we feel sure that both parties will frequent the locale with a view towards mutual understanding. The present changing condition of the university necessitates a closer-knit bond between students and their instructors; there must come into being an understanding which goes deeper than just a knowledge of what makes the wheels of the other side go round. Students are coming to look upon their teachers more and more as people whose friendship it is necessary to cultivate in order to gain a better view of things as they are, rather than supernatural beings whose sole delight in life is the "flunking" of the majority of those who write their exams.

We hope that the new body, if it does come into being, will also do much to revise the opinion which the professors have of the students, which is sometimes none too complimentary.

RED & WHITE REVUE

A block of seats for Graduates' Night at the Revue, Thursday, March 12th, will be held especially for graduates' reservations until next Monday at 2 p.m.

Tickets now on sale at Union.

Reservations may be made by phone — LA. 2244.

GRADUATES' REUNION
October 21–24

THE Fourth Quinquennial Reunion of McGill Graduates and Past Students will be held next fall from Wednesday, October 21, to Saturday, October 24, these dates having been chosen so that, as in the past, the last day falls upon the occasion of the McGill-Toronto football game.

All alumni are asked to mark these dates now.

The following events will be included in the Reunion program:

General meeting of the Graduates' Society.
Clinics, demonstrations and exhibitions in the various faculties and departments.
Reunion Smoker.
Reunion Dance and Supper.
Track Meet.
Football: McGill vs. Toronto.
Reunion Dinner.

It is planned to hold the dinner on Saturday night after the football game, and to ask all those classes which have formed the custom of holding class dinners on that night to hold their class gathering at the Reunion Dinner, with specially reserved long tables for their accommodation. Expressions of opinion on this proposal will be welcomed.

The Reunion, as were those in the past, will be conducted by the Graduates' Society. The officers of the Society have created the following Reunion Committee of 1936:

Chairman: Mr. John T. Hackett.

Executive Sub-Committee and Committee on Honorary Degrees and Convocation: The Chairman, Mr. Hackett; 1st Vice-pres., Dr. F. S. Patch; 2nd Vice-Pres., Hon. Mr. Justice Barclay; Montreal Branch President, Dr. D. Sclater Lewis.

Director of Budgets and Expenditure: Mr. Douglas Bremner.

Director of Publicity and Attendance of out-of-town Graduates: Mr. H. R. Cockfield.

President of the Montreal Branch and Director of Attendance of Montreal Alumni: Dr. D. Sclater Lewis.

Director of Program and Registration: Prof. W. G. McBride.

Director of Entertainments (other than women's): Mr. James S. Cameron.

President of the Alumnae Society and Director of Women's Entertainment: As elected by Alumnae Society.

President of the Students' Society and Director of Students' Cooperation: As elected by Students' Society.

Executive Secretary: Mr G. B. Glassco.

JAMES DOUGLAS 1837–1918
Governor and Benefactor of McGill

MUCH has been said recently of McGill's plans to build a men's residence. Little mention has been made of the man whose benefactions have made this development possible.

In September, 1915, Dr. James Douglas, a Governor and an Honorary LL.D. of the University, gave $150,000 to be used in the erection of a dormitory; to this was added in his will another $50,000. The original sum has grown until it has now reached the half-million mark. McGill has no choice in the matter of its disbursement. It has to be used for a dormitory.

Dr. Douglas, called by the Engineering and Mining Journal at the time of his death "the dean of the mining and metallurgical professions," was born in Quebec, the son of the prominent surgeon, Dr. James Douglas.

After studying in Europe he graduated B.A. from Queen's in 1858, then studied theology at Edinburgh and medicine at Laval. He was for a time an assistant minister at Quebec, and taught chemistry at Morrin College. With Sterry Hunt he invented the ingenious Hunt and Douglas process of copper-extraction.

For 20 years his life was a struggle with poverty until in the 80's he became president of Copper Queen in Arizona which soon began its successful expansion in mining, smelting and railroading. The town of Douglas on the Mexican border was named after him.

He received the highest awards of the mining and metallurgical professions; was twice president of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, and represented the United States at the Mining Congress in Paris in 1900. McGill conferred on him in 1899 the Honorary LL.D. He was the author of several historical works, as well as of numerous technical papers.

In addition to the gifts for a dormitory, Mr. Douglas gave to McGill $15,000 for the Library; and established the Douglas Tutorial Bursaries, the Douglas Fellowship in Mining Engineering, and the Douglas Research Fellowship in Pathology.

INFORMATION

III. MEETINGS

Parent Society: Meetings called at any time by the Executive Committee, or at the request in writing of any 50 members. 50 constitutes a quorum, with proxies accepted.

Graduate Council: Semi-annual meeting held on the second Tuesday in May, and the annual meeting on the second Tuesday in October—or at such other date within four weeks following that day as the Executive Committee may from year to year determine.

Montreal Branch: Annual meeting on the third Tuesday in October. Special general meetings of the Branch are called by the secretary on the requisition of the President, or of a quorum of the executive council, or by an application signed by 12 members.

IV. THE GRADUATE COUNCIL

The Graduate Council is composed of:

The last five surviving past presidents of the Society;

Ten members elected at large by the Society;

The President or secretary of each graduated class in each faculty or department (provided that such officer be a member of the Graduates' Society);

The officers of the Society, who are the officers of the Council;

The other members of the Executive Committee.

The ten members at large are elected for terms of two years, five being elected each year.

Note re Class Representatives: Should no qualified class president or secretary have been appointed by any graduated class; or should a class president, class secretary or class councillor fail to perform his duties on the Council, the Executive Committee of the Society may appoint a member of the Society to act as representative of such class. This representative is known as a class councillor. He represents his class until the next election or his replacement.

V. NOMINATING COMMITTEES

Parent Society: Nominating Committee chosen by the Graduate Council of the Graduates' Society by ballot. Nine members. Three elected each year (at the regular annual meeting of the Council) to serve for three-year terms.

This Committee presents nominations for all offices to be filled in the Society. Nominations can also be made for any Society office by fifteen members of the Society. Elections by letter ballot.

Montreal Branch: Nominating Committee elected at the annual meeting of the Branch. Six members, two elected each year for three-year terms. Nominations for Branch officers also made by any ten members—at least eight days before the annual meeting (third Tuesday in October).

New York.

DEAR MILES,—The note I received ordering me to contribute to the Graduates' Section of the Daily had a very familiar scrawl, and as far as I am concerned, it demonstrated the utter futility of life, the curse of slavery and the lack of complete freedom under the existing economic system. There was a time when I worked on the McGill Daily and received such curt notes from someone who signed himself Miles Gordon, a dubious editor-in-chief.

I had considered, though, that I escaped from the tyrant's hand when I grabbed a sheepskin in '29 and scurried out of the Daily for good. I figured I was pretty safe on a downtown newspaper where the editors were polite and knew their business; and when my professional duties took me across the border to New York, I was pretty much convinced that Dictator Gordon could no longer torment me. In fact I was thumbing my nose at the very thought of him quite regularly when I suddenly received this order at hand, to wit: "Write a piece for the Graduates Section of which I am editor." It just goes to show the manner in which Der Fuhrer Gordon had cowed me for years. Here I am dutifully writing to him, while my own work lies on a disorderly desk around me and the oases of 52nd Street await my familiar step.

As a matter of fact, Miles, I have been reading the Daily regularly during the past two months largely because Mr. Brian Meredith had been kind enough to forward a batch of copies to me every now and again. I won't say we put out a better paper, Miles, because that wouldn't be true. There are several radical improvements in the sheet which you might have thought about if you hadn't been so interested in that lovely cafeteria waitress. But I promised myself I wouldn't mention that.

To The Editor

THERE is one notable change in the paper and that is the size of the correspondence column. Students are writing to the editor of the Daily now, in much greater numbers than in our day. This, of course, is easily explained. In the old days, when a student wanted to say something to the editor of the Daily, he always knew he could find him in the tavern of the Prince of Wales Hotel any afternoon between 4 and 7 o'clock. The tavern was practically your office and Armand your efficient private secretary. Nowadays, the Daily editor probably is a busy man and people must write him if they want to reach him, which is the right way of doing things.

There were other shortcomings in the Daily of our time which I could probably explain but, as I understand it, you would like this letter to keep the bounds of common decency. And who am I to point the finger at you?

YOU suggest that there may be quite a few McGill graduates in New York. There are, Miles, but it would require an awful lot of time to look them up, more time than I can spare. Several have crossed my path recently, however—all of them doing interesting work. Less than a year ago, James P. Manion, Commerce '30 and a fellow worker on the Daily, passed through here on his way from Tokyo to Paris to assume a new post for the Canadian Trade Commissioner.

Only a few weeks ago, Edgar S. Fay of Arts '20, also a Daily graduate, spent several weeks in New York gathering material for a volume on this city. Fay is a resident, a barrister and a well-known author of London, and he looked me up with a view to getting some very excellent information about this city. I gave him such original suggestions as the Aquarium, the Bronx Zoo and the Empire State Building, and he thanked me very much and went on his way. Three days later he called on me again—and showed me the city!

Then another Daily graduate passed through here, on his way back from a European tour. He is D. A. L. MacDonald, The Gazette's expert sports-writer, who managed to sneak through several years of Arts, Commerce and Science without taking a degree. The European situation seemed to interest him a great deal and between long orations on the excellence of Munich beer, he managed to tell me that the Germans were a very nice people though they did things he didn't like, and though they did things he didn't like the Germans were a very nice people. Well, anyway the beer in Munich is very good. He also stated that the Munich beer could not be exported to Canada. He apparently took great pains to find out.

Gymnasium

BEFORE I close, Miles, I would ask you to track down the ugly rumour that McGill is going to get a gymnasium. If this is true, I wish you would record my most violent protest of this unthinkable rupture of hallowed tradition. You might as well tear down the front of the Arts Building or remove Gill Gentleman from the same edifice. You don't know how it is, Miles, when McGill graduates meet in a strange place like New York or Chicago or Detroit. You say "How do you do? I'm McGill '29." And he says, "And how are you? I'm McGill '27." And you say "Rather poor weather we're having, isn't it?" And he says "Yes. It looks like a bad winter." Then there is a long pause, and he looks suspiciously at you, and you look suspiciously at him. Then you say "Well, they haven't got a gymnasium at McGill yet." And he says "What! No gym? My, my, the old place hasn't changed much. You know that's one of the distinctive things about McGill. I'll never forget when . . ."

And before you know it, Miles, you are buying each other drinks at the nearest bar. The gymnasium question is one of the things that pulls McGill people together. It is the common

Grads Take Dodds Cup As Red Seniors End Season

Alumni Give Sparkling Display For City Title

Grads Show Good Condition to Take Annual Tilt by 40-24 Count — Schuler Leads Scorers With 16 Points — Halpenny Figures in Scoring — Don Young Relieved For First Time — Bowes, Gormley Red Stars

By M. B.

McGILL GRADS took the Dodds Cup for the Montreal Basketball League by handing the Red Seniors a decisive 40-24 defeat last night at the Nationale A.A.A. floor. This is the third successive year the winner of the M.B.L. has held the Cup. Prior to that, McGill were victorious for four straight years from 1930. The contest, an annual event between the Redmen and the winner of the M.B.L., was started in 1928 and has been won by McGill five times. The total point-scoring in the last nine years finds McGill still holding a slim lead over the various M.B.L. representatives, 277-275.

Grads Well-Conditioned

Schuler and Smaill led the Grad forces to victory with the former netting sixteen points. The game was fast, with the Grads forcing a withering pace. Don Young, however, took relief, after playing full games all season. The surprisingly good condition of the former collegians ran the students ragged. Bert Light has been putting the Grads through some stiff conditioning for the last week and numerous work-outs have put them in fine fettle. They should be able to take the N.D.G. hoopsters when they play off to decide the champion of the M.B.L., as well as the holder of the Dodds Cup.

The Senior squad wound up their season with a hard-fought game, but could not hang on to the speedy-moving, cleverly-combining Grads. The older men gave no quarter to the Red squad and kept them on the run. The Undergrads were at their best in the first half, but were left way behind as the game drew to an end. Their passing was good but the narrow floor, coupled with an almost impenetrable Grad defence, hampered their scoring chances.

Grads Lead

The game started with the Redmen getting the ball and forcing the play with passes, but unable to get by the Grads' defence to shoot. Rutherford finally got a shot away but it missed. Calhoun came right back to open the scoring with a basket for the Grads. Hammond netted another, followed by a free shot to put the ex-collegians well ahead, 5-0.

Gormley sank a beautiful shot from centre-floor for the first McGill basket, followed closely by a tally from Smaill, and then another by Gormley. Brown scored on a free throw and then broke away to net a close-in shot and tie the score 7-7. Gormley missed two free shots and then Schuler got the first of his 16 point total. Play went back and forth, with Young's length-of-the-floor pass to Schuler bringing forth applause. The Grads forged well ahead as Young followed up with a basket to bring the score to 17-12.

Redmen Lag

The balance of the first half found the Grads keeping a steady offensive with the Undergrads feeling the speed of the play. Two minutes of excitement started with Bowes netting a basket for the Redmen; Schuler of the Grads tallying two in swift succession and Smaill sinking a free shot.

Play went from end to end with fast dribbling and sharp short passes featuring. The students were pretty well fatigued at this point with Brown especially feeling the heavy pace. Keeping the play under the collegians' nets the Grads finally sunk one last basket Smaill getting it, before the period ended. The half-time score was 24-14 for the Grads.

Halpenny Scores

A spirited attack by the Redmen resulted in Gormley and Bowes netting two field goals at the start of the period. Schuler regained the edge for Grads with a basket and a free throw. Rutherford sank a free throw and Brown a goal, but the ex-collegians started to go to town with Schuler, Ross and Halpenny scoring soon in short order.

Gerry Halpenny celebrated the game by scoring his first basket of the season, and absolutely stunned players and spectators alike by following up with another basket soon after. The Grads were ahead 38-23 on Halpenny's last effort and the game was pretty well finished. Schuler netted the last Grad effort to bring their total to 40 and his own to 16 for the night. Scriver tallied a free shot to end the students' score. Both teams were weary at the finish a moment later. The game ended 40-24, the Grads being presented with the Dodds Cup. The playoff between the N.D.G. squad and the Grads will settle the ownership of the Cup for this year.

The Dodds Cup contest wound up the season for the Senior basketeers, and, though the year was not particularly successful as far as wins went, the members of the team worked hard and have had a good year's experience behind them. Two intermediates, Hunter and Schofield, played for the Seniors last night and showed some promise. The box scores:

Red Boxers In Bouts At M.A.A.A. Clubhouse Tonight

Coach Bert Light leads his boxers into a competition tonight. The B.W. & F. Meet, as reported in yesterday's Daily, has been postponed, but instead the enterprising mentor has arranged a schedule of bouts for the Wheelsmen's Club Smoker at the M.A.A.A. Clubhouse tonight at 7.30 o'clock.

This Inter-Club competition with the Wheelers will consist of a series of decision fights. The following men are competing: Bob Quinn, 145 lbs.; MacCallum, 135 lbs.; Royer, 160 lbs.; Brissenden, 165 lbs.; Prince, 145 lbs.; Macaulay, 175 lbs.

Macdonald College announces their meet for next Tuesday. City competitions for the Red boxers seem rather out of the question, but some of the men may enter. Plans for a meet with Dartmouth are still indefinite.

Interfaculty Hockey Final

The final game between Engineering and Commerce will be played at the Forum TODAY at 1:30 P.M.

M. Bowes Elected Basketball Captain For '36-'37 Season

Coach Confident of Chances For Next Year's Squad

MARTY BOWES, Dent. '37, was elected captain of the McGill Basketball Club, at a meeting after the Dodds Cup game last night. A regular guard on the Senior team for the past two seasons, Bowes made the squad in his first year at McGill and earned his "M" with the 1933-34 Intercollegiate championship squad.

The meeting, which was part of a get-together with the Grads, ended the team's activities for the year. The new captain will have a courageous and ambitious team to make up for the deficiencies of the past two seasons. Brown, Corrigan, and Greenblatt are the graduating members of this year's squad. While they will be missed, Coach Van Wagner is confident that the Seconds have developed material of adequate calibre to aid in the building of a new team. Walter Murray will be Club manager.

Meanwhile, all eyes are on the progress of the Grads in their drive for the Dominion playdowns. Gerry Dixon's alumni meet N.D.G. next Wednesday in the first game of the series for the Provincial Senior championship, in which also their retention of the Dodds Cup is at stake.

GRADUATE STUDENTS' BADMINTON

The R.V.C. gymnasium will not be open to Graduate Students for badminton tonight.

INTERFACULTY HOCKEY Final Game

Commerce will meet Engineering, at the Forum, at 1:30 p.m. sharp.

Indoor Baseball League Begins Activities Today

Medicos Meet Theologs in Opening Encounter at 5 p.m.— All Matches at M.H.S. Gym — High Official Tosses First Ball — Manager Patrick Issues First Half of Schedule — Arts Play Commerce Tomorrow

INDOOR Baseball gets off to a lively start this afternoon, when Medicine and Theology lock horns in an opening fixture of the Indoor Baseball season, at 5.00 p.m. on the Montreal High School floor, generally accepted as the best floor in the city for Indoor baseball. Rules have been drawn up, to be used in the Interfaculty League Schedule, the first half of the draw which appears below. Games will start at 5.00 P.M. sharp, at the High School Gym.

Opening Ceremonies Arranged

Impressive ceremonies for the opening game today have been arranged The Indoor Baseball season will officially be ushered in when the first ball will be thrown in by the Janitor of the High School.

Medicine, the defending champions, will receive stiff opposition from the Theologs, whose team presents a formidable threat for the championship, monopolized for the past few years by the Sawbones. The Artsmen are also vying strongly for the crown. The "dwindling lights," perennial runners-up for baseball supremacy on the campus, boast of several strong additions to their roster. The schedule this year should be a closely contested one and should also be more successful than in former years, due to its early start; in former years the Engineers were forced to default several games due to their early exam period.

Tomorrow afternoon, Arts and Commerce, historic rivals, will continue the schedule, in a game that promises plenty of action.

First Half of Schedule

The schedule for the first half of the games is announced by Manager Jim Patrick:

Thurs., 4th—Med. vs Theol.
Fri., 5th —Arts vs. Coml.
Mon., 9th —Med. vs. Com.
Tues., 10th—Theol. vs. Arts.
Thurs, 12th—Arts vs. Med.
Fri., 13th —Com. vs. Theol.

INTERFACULTY BASKETBALL
Friday, March 6th

5 P.M.—Engineering vs. Arts.
6 P.M.—Dentistry vs. Medicine.

Gertrude Porter Retains Archery Crown Yesterday

FIFTEEN CO-EDS spent a busy afternoon yesterday in the annual R.V.C. Archery Tournament. Gertrude Porter repeated her win of last year, making 67 hits out of a possible 72, for the fine total score of 426.

The competition, which was held in the R.V.C. gym, was run off on the Columbia Round system. Seventy-two arrows were shot by each competitor, twenty-four each at 30, 40, and 50 feet.

The exceptionally large turnout for the tournament, shows the growing interest in this sport among women students.

Interfaculty Final Fought to 3 to 3 Draw As Ian Craig Stars

Westman Strong on Engineering Defence—Game Replayed Today

Engineers and Commerce fought hard to a 3-3 tie yesterday afternoon in the Interfaculty Hockey final. The game will be refought today at the Forum at 1.30.

Ian Craig, in a flashy showing was head man for Commerce scoring all three goals. Fee, McGibbon and Morrison all came to the aid of the party for the Engineers to account for their three goals. Herb Westman played strong on the defence for the Engineers. The game was remarkably cleanly played, no penalties being given. It was ably refereed by Dave Frazer. The line-up was as follows:

Commerce: Wilson, goal; Stewart, Monk, defence; Hushion, Craig, wings; Gardiner, centre; Lareau, Deserres, Laing, Stuart, subs.

Engineers: Foster, goal; Westman, Gnaedinger, defence; Fee, McGibbon, wings; Morrison, centre; Dunn, Parent, Campbell, subs.

McGill Ski Stars Enter Kandahar Races On Week-end

Houghton Aims to Repeat Performance—Dartmouth Enter

PROSPECT of a dual competition between Dartmouth and McGill in the Quebec Kandahar Ski Races at Mont Tremblant this Sunday seems quite possible, with the announcement of an entry by the Hanover team in the annual downhill classic. Several other strong clubs from below the line have entries in the meet, including the famed Hocheberg Club of Boston.

Captain Jim Houghton will head the McGill squad, which will include Bob Townsend, Kel Sproule, Murray Outhet, Bob Johannsen, and probably Seldon Hannah. Houghton turned in a magnificent performance in last years Kandahar, winning the slalom and coming ninth in the downhill to gain a second place behind Karl Baadsvick, Olympic skier. Outhet is also a veteran of this race.

If the competition with Dartmouth materializes, it will probably be fought out on a four-man team basis, with the first three counting. Two slalom trials and the treacherous downhill run comprise the event, which is sponsored by the Red Birds Ski Club, McGill graduate organization. The Mont Tremblant course, known as the premier downhill run on the continent, is 1.7 miles in length and has an altitude drop of 2,045 feet. Other statistics are: 1195 feet per mile grade 28 degrees maximum variation in slope, 20 to 80 feet in width.

Eligibility for the slalom races requires a place among the first twenty men in the downhill. Qualification for downhill entries require the holding of a class 1 or 2 card, while all classes may compete in the slalom. Entries close tonight at 3465 Cote des Neiges Road, where the draw will be held.

Startling Revelation Amazes Undergraduates At McGill

YESTERDAY'S announcement stating the intercollegiate assault-at-arms would take place tomorrow and Saturday, has caused unusual commotion among members of the undergraduate body of McGill. The Athletic Office, and members of the B.W.&F. team have been besieged with phone calls and personal interviews since the notice appeared.

"Has the meet of two weeks ago been annulled?" one frantic inquirer asked.

"Wasn't Jack Ross medically examined?" another almost sobbed.

"Weren't the men who put up the bleachers satisfied with their pay?" still another demanded.

Rumours were rife that the story was a publicity stunt of the Annual Board; that photographs were going to be taken of the waiting assembly, and featured in this year's issue of 'Old McGill.' A coup such as this would undoubtedly be a master stroke for the sales manager of the year book, as who would wish to see his picture in the midst of a 'sucker' gathering? The entire issue would have been sold in a day—and burned.

The matter has, however, been satisfactorily cleared up due to the help of the manager of the B.W.&F. team, who assured us that the meet of two weeks ago was quite valid, that McGill still held the championship, that Jack Ross had been medically examined, and that the story was no publicity stunt of the Annual Board.

As a matter of fact there will be no assault-at-arms tomorrow or Saturday either. The reported meet has been postponed, indefinitely postponed.

Boxers and wrestlers will not weigh-in today, nor will they take part in the Graduates' Smoker tonight. There is no smoker tonight. It has been indefinitely postponed also.

Some insidious person has gone so far as to suggest that there never was a B.W.&F. meet scheduled for tomorrow, and that the Graduates never intended to hold a smoker tonight. But of course that was an impossible suggestion, or else the Daily would never have run the advances at all. The Daily never makes mistakes. Ahem!

Election Platforms Issued By Candidates For Union Offices

this office I have carefully studied Union House affairs over a period of years and familiarized myself with the problems that would face the incoming Officers. The two platforms which I have just presented are a result of this study. You will all undoubtedly see, how, under the present circumstances it is impossible for me to advocate the one or the other.

May I say, if you see fit to elect me to this position, that regardless of which of the two platforms I am forced to follow, I will discharge my duties to the best of my ability and in the very best interests of the student body and will bring to hand, to help solve these problems, what experience I have gained in other executive offices on the campus.

Activities:—Manager, Senior Track Team; manager Boxing Club; Scarlet Key Society 1932-33; student representative to Athletic Board; secretary treasurer Interfrat. Council; president Scarlet Key Society; Osler Society.

Letourneau's Platform

If I am returned as President of the Union in the forthcoming elections, I will do all I can to further the interests of the Institution and carry on the plans formulated by the present House Committee. I believe that there is yet much to be done in acquiring class and society dinners for the Union. I would revise the present magazine list and hold more informal dances and smokers. I would attempt to make the Union all that its founder intended — the centre of the Undergraduate Society.

Gould's Platform

If I am elected to vice-presidency of the Union, it will be my object to see that, in accordance with present conditions, a policy of the utmost economy and efficiency be maintained in the management of the Union. Sir William MacDonald built the Union at a cost of $210,000 so that the students might have a place in which to meet one another; I shall to the best of my ability see that his intention is carried out.

Activities: Intermediate Football 1933-34-35; Interclass Hockey; Annual Board 33-34; Scarlet Key 35-36 and President of the Arts Undergraduates Society.

Hess's Platform

Platform of Geoffrey Hess, vice-president of McGill Union:

I believe that members of the Union House Committee should be out-of-town students. They should be well acquainted with the workings of the Union, and of the societies whose offices are in the Union.

The Union should be known by every student on the campus, and by students from visiting campuses. Increased activities in the Union would be part of my objective were I a member of the House Committee. The present Committee has made an excellent beginning in this respect, but the great possibilities which exist in the Union have only begun to be opened up. Students should be made "Union conscious," which is a matter that cannot be accomplished in one year, but further efforts in this line should be made by the incoming committee.

Geof. Hess comes from New York. He has been active in the Daily, the Annual and the Players' Club. For half of last year he worked in the Union Cafeteria and this year has been a regular patron of that place. He is well acquainted with the workings of the Union, as a result of close connection with the activities which centre there.

Gilmour's Platform

When you consider that the McGill Union was a gift to McGill by one man, and that this generous gesture cost him nearly $200,000, you can readily understand how important he regarded a Union of this sort as an integral part of college life.

A great many students in McGill regard this building, except for the offices of the Red and White, the Players' Club and the Daily, as nothing more than a colossal monument to one of McGill's greatest benefactors. They are content to pay their three dollars a year for its upkeep, in much the same spirit as they pay a tax on cigarettes, as money paid out from which they derive no direct benefit. This I regard as something the Union House committee should do its utmost to rectify, so that every student may find something in the Union to make him feel that it is his own club. The additional 50c increase in the fee next year, will enable this to be done, if it is wisely spent.

But most important of all I believe the vice-president should realize that he is after all, only the vice-president, and do his utmost to assist the president and the secretary, in all of their numerous difficulties. And I sincerely believe that such positions as I have held in the past, have helped to train me for the position I am now nominated for.

Class President Commerce '37 during 1934-35-36. Scenery Designer Red and White Revue 1935, 1936. Commerce Representative to Students' Council 1936-37. Water-polo 1934-35-36.

Duff's Tally Beats Leafs

Pidcock was credited for the second. Martel scored both Verdun goals in the second stanza.

Slow in starting, the Redmen did not get a shot at the Leaf net until five minutes after the face-off. They were not long in getting underway, however, for on the second trip through the Verdun defence they scored. McConnell carried the rubber around Brunet and Arcand, passed to Morse, who crossed the net and flicked it to Duff. A smart backhand sent the puck into the mesh.

Arcand Verdun Menace

Verdun kept up a steady bombardment on Dave Tennant, but many of the shots were wide of the net. As it was, the McGill goalie had to make twelve saves to Martel's nine. Arcand succeeded in leading many attacks from the defence. When Pennee spent an anxious two minutes in the box, Arcand and Desroches between them kept the puck out of McGill hands.

An orgy of tripping and boarding marked the second period. Pidcock led the procession to the penalty box. With a one-man advantage, Verdun opened up a furious attack. Brown, the Leafs' wild winger, plunged into the four-man defence to go down over Crosby's stick. "Bing" took two minutes. With two McGill men off, Verdun redoubled their effort. Brown again was the spearhead. He and Meiklejohn became embroiled, and both went off. Morse and Crutchfield were now alone but kept up an offensive game, almost scoring.

McGill held the play in the last period. The battle centred around the Verdun citadel. Tracey took a hard shot at the Red nets which was spectacularly caught by Tennant. The game lagged, and then both teams were electrified into action. Tennant got a goose egg in the back of the head from a high stick but continued to play. McConnell rushed the Verdun defence, circled the net and passed to Duff, who flicked in the winning goal a few minutes before final time. Verdun advanced a five-man attack which left the ice clear for Jean Paul Elie to sweep down on the Verdun nets with Crutchfield, Crosby and Lamb at his heels for reinforcements. The attempt failed.

Verdun: G. Martel, goal; Arcand, Brunet, defence; Brown, centre; Ethier, Pennee, wings. Subs: M. Martel, Desroches, Majeau, Proulx, Croghan, Tracey, Philbin.

McGill: Tennant, goal; Meiklejohn, Wigle, defence; Crutchfield, centre; Pidcock, Crosby, wings. Subs: Duff, McConnell, Dickison, Hall, Elie, MacKay, Morse, Lamb.

Referees: Mallinson and Bennett.

First Period

1—McGill ... Duff (Morse, McConnell) ... 6.30

Penalties: Pennee, MacKay.

Second Period

2—Verdun ... Martel ... 8.46

3—McGill ... Pidcock (Crutchfield, Crosby) ... 15.36

4—Verdun ... Martel (Pennee) ... 18.38

Penalties: Pennee, Pidcock, (2), Crosby, Meiklejohn, Brown, Desroches, Martel, MacKay.

Third Period

5—McGill ... Duff (McConnell) ... 17.24

Penalties: Wigle, Brown, Duff.

back on the ice and was immediately penalized for something or other.

\+ \+ \+

Just who was on the ice and why was hard to figger out. However, the fact of the matter is that Verdun tied up the score. It is unknown as yet whether McGill had any men on the ice or not. Referee Mallinson tried to give Referee Bennett a penalty as well but nothing came of it. At this point in the Carnival all those with weak arches were requested to leave.

\+ \+ \+

Fred Wigle did a land-boom trade in bodychecks but as they were clean ones he stayed on the ice. Last night Wigle showed that he could rush with the best of the defencemen in the Group. McGill's second goal was the acme of combination. The black biscuit just flowed back and forth between Crosby, Pidcock and Crutchfield with Pidcock ramming it home.

Industrial Use Of Explosives Stressed

explosives Mr. Grubb explained how the processes were carried on in the C.I.L. plant at Beloeil, Que. The units of production are spread out over 1,000 acres to minimize the danger of explosions spreading from one section to another. The administration buildings and laboratories are situated in special safety zones. Mr. Grubb remarked that numerous chemists were employed in these testing laboratories among which were some McGill men.

The third phase of his subject, the uses of explosives was dealt with mainly in the motion pictures that followed Mr. Grubb's lecture. Numerous shots of blastings were shown including one of the biggest explosions made in Canada in which 260,000 pounds of dynamite were set off. These pictures also illustrated the use of explosives in mines, agriculture, building power dams and numerous other important industries. Mr. Grubb pointed out that although C.I.L. produced millions of pounds of explosives annually, none of this output was exported for military purposes.

ground of discussion for any graduate.

So you see, Miles, how important this thing is. Please do not let them build a gymnasium. By all means let them discuss the question and further the plans; that is part and parcel of the routine. But for Heaven's sake, don't let them build the place. That would spoil everything.

This is about the regular length of my daily stint, and curiously enough I find myself with nothing else to say.

I trust that once you have read this far, there will be no further question of literary contributions from this source.

Sincerely,

LIONEL.
